

ABOUT THE SOLAVACA TRAIL

Located on 130 acres, the Solavaca Trail is miles of limestone hill country riding with a seasonal creek running the east side, south to north.

Open Wednesday at 2 PM through Sunday (or Monday if it's a Holiday), Daylight to dark or later if you let me know. Primitive camping with Porta-Let provided.

There is one continuous main single track circuit marked Orange. Intermediate / high-intermediate sections have go-arounds marked with white arrows. One loop, the Blue Loop, returns to the Orange main trail very near the departure point. I recommend that you take it – it has some fun technical stuff, but not real hard. Nineteen named climbs, 6 rocky creek crossings, technical drops, rock garden, tight turns through tree gates, and technical descents.

Loop:

Blue – Intermediate. Leaves the Orange near the crest of the hill, descends down, across the rim of the tank dam, off the dam in a steep/fast escape, then back up the hill to eventually rejoin the Orange.

Fees.	Day Pass	5 Day Pass
Adult	$3	$10
12 & under	FREE	FREE

Camping: Primitive, with a porta-john

Weekend - $12/person also covers the riding fee.
Per night - $8/person also covers the riding fee.
RV – Places to park them but no hook-ups $15/day
(Prices change for big events like races)

Please do not bring your DOG. Please do not collect stuff, rocks, fossils, etc.

Located at 7829 FM 205, 7 miles from Hwy 67 in Glen Rose, Texas

Owners: Mack & Anne Hargrave
Call: 254.823.6574
email: mhargrave@gwks.com
URL: www.solavaca.com

